

The National Institute of Public Finance and Policy (NIPFP), New Delhi is looking to hire Research Fellows (2) in the ecosystem and biodiversity fields, initially for one year, on a full-time basis.

Our current work in these fields include: issues in regulation and governance of biodiversity; issues in biodiversity financing; mapping expenditure on and revenues from biodiversity; developing biodiversity conservation strategy and action plan for two Himalayan states; costing of identified biodiversity action plans; identifying appropriate finance solutions for biodiversity conservation.

Candidates with a post-graduate degree in economics or environmental economics or ecological economics and two years of relevant work experience; excellent writing skills and ability to independently think, design and deliver quality research products may apply.

The candidates will be on contract and offered a competitive salary based on their qualifications, skills and relevant experience.

Interested candidates should send their Resume along with a brief cover letter explaining their qualifications and skills for the position to wasim.ahmad@nipfp.org.in . Please mention in subject line of your email “Resume for recruitment in project on Biodiversity”.
