Acknowledgements

This study has benefited considerably from the extensive comments from the World Bank team dealing with the State Finances of India. In particular, we would like to express our thanks to Sharoukh Fardoust, V. J. Ravishankar and Stephen Howes.

We would like to express our appreciation for the cooperation extended to us by the officials of the Government of Kerala. We would like to thank Vinod Rai, Principal Secretary (Finance), I. S. Gulati, Vice-Chairman, State Planning Board, and K.N. Kurup, Secretary, State Planning Board, for discussing with us various issues related to the fiscal health and Plan priorities of the State. We also had elaborate sessions with K.M. Abraham, Secretary (Budget), Lizzie Jacob, Principal Secretary (Forest) and N. Chandrasekharan Nair, Principal Secretary (Higher Education), Elias George, Secretary (Irrigation), V. Vijaykumar, Secretary (Health), Rajeev Sadanandan, Additional Secretary (Health), V. Thomas Sreeba, Director, Directorate of Economics and Statistics, John Mathai, Commissioner, Taxes, S. Anil Kumar, Deputy Commissioner, Taxes, and K. A. Chandrasekharan, Additional Director, Industries.

The Government of Kerala had nominated A. K. Dubey, Secretary (Expenditure) as the nodal officer for our study. He rendered invaluable help in not only carefully organising our meetings but also providing useful insights into important aspects of Kerala's State Finances.

Our team had the benefit of discussing sector specific policy issues with K. G. Rajasekharan Nair, Member, A/C, KSEB, James Thomas, Chief Accounts Officer, KSEB, N. Vijaykumar, Finance Officer, KSEB, M. N. Krishnamurthy, Managing Director, KSRTC, D. Ramarajan, E.D. (HRD), KSRTC, C.M.C. Menon, Financial Advisor, KSRTC, P. Swaminathan, Director, Bureau of Public Enterprises.

We also had extensive discussions at the Centre for Taxation Studies, Thiruvananthapuram, especially with V. Murukesh Kumar and Jose Sebastian regarding various aspects of the tax structure of the State.

We received warm cooperation from C. K. Raman Kutty, Deputy Secretary (Finance) who looked after the organisation of meetings and other arrangements during our visit to Kerala.

H.K. Amar Nath rendered valuable help in some estimation exercises. Sanjay Samirana Pattnayak has been associated with the study as a project associate. R. S. Tyagi has rendered accomplished secretarial assistance.

Rita Wadhwa was responsible for editing and publication of the study. Sushma Malhotra transformed it into the present format. We would like to thank them for their support.
